

Statement from the EU RO MR Group 2nd Technical Review Meeting held on 9 June 2016

On 9 June 2016, the EU RO MR Group held its 2nd Technical Review Meeting (MR TRM) at the offices of DNV GL in Oslo.

The MR TRM was initiated to exchange views and improve the communication with industry partners on the current status of the development and maintenance of Mutual Recognition (MR) Technical Requirements (MR TR) and products eligible for certification under the MR process. One focus area of the discussion between the EU RO Group representatives and the attending industry partners was the feedback on technical issues related to the approval process and consideration of further potential products.

Substantial input was given by manufacturers asking for consideration of their product(s) or product range. Limitations in product considerations were explained by the EU ROs sighting safety of marine equipment as the main criteria in the selection process. SEA Europe emphasized that the European equipment manufacturing industry is known for high quality products and would not put their good reputation at stake by compromising safety.

Based on the well-established working processes and the experience gained over a considerable period of time during the development of MR type approval products, the main focus will be on continuing building trust in the reliability of the existing MR scheme processes and procedures.

Overall the feeling expressed by those attending the MR TRM was that it had been a useful and successful meeting.

For more information on future MR TRMs, or mutual recognition in general, please contact the EU RO MR Group Secretariat: <http://www.euomr.org/contact-us>.
